Objectives of the HBRFMES

Article (5)

The HBRFMES aims to:

1. support the Government and society efforts in highlighting the importance of the education and medical sectors; and promote the culture of talent, innovation, excellence, and quality in these sectors;
2. contribute to improving the quality and levels of performance and creativity within educational and medical institutions at the local and international levels, and enhancing the relevant elements and resources, in accordance with international best practices;
3. contribute to the establishment and support of innovation, talent, and scientific research centres and programmes;
4. support the talented and talent tracks; build the capacity of the talented and create a nurturing environment to foster, support, and invest in their talent; and develop talent programmes;
5. encourage scientific research on excellence and talent, particularly in areas of national priority;

6. encourage and motivate creative, innovative, and distinguished persons, and researchers; recognise the achievements of individuals, universities, institutions, research centres, and other entities engaged in the education and medical sectors at the local, regional, and international levels; and recognise researchers who develop outstanding research papers that serve the community and enrich scientific research; and
7. support the sustainability of excellence in areas related to the work of the HBRFMES in accordance with the international best practices.

Functions of the HBRFMES

Article (6)

For the purpose of achieving its objectives, the HBRFMES will, without prejudice to the provisions of applicable legislation, have the duties and powers to:

1. sponsor and support the general policies aimed at developing education and medicine, scientific and medical research, and specialised reports on educational and medical excellence, innovation, and talent; and sponsor creative projects;
2. contribute to promoting the concept of excellence, talent, and innovation by providing scholarships, human development programmes, specialised studies, and electronic platforms;
3. design and manage programmes, centres, and advanced laboratories in the fields of educational and medical excellence, talent, and innovation;
4. bolster local and international partnerships in fields that are relevant to the achievement of the objectives of the HBRFMES with a view to promoting the exchange of knowledge and expertise, keeping pace with the latest knowledge developments, providing educational opportunities for creative persons, and highlighting the endeavours of the UAE in these fields;
5. establish companies and corporations, either solely or in partnership with other persons, in fields that are relevant to the work of the HBRFMES;
6. organise events, exhibitions, conferences, workshops, and specialised programmes; and produce translations and publications, in fields that are relevant to the achievement of the objectives of the HBRFMES;

7. issue periodic studies, reports, and bulletins in fields that are relevant to the work of the HBRFMES;
8. design and launch local, regional, and international awards in the fields that are relevant to the work of the HBRFMES;
9. recognise institutions and individuals who provide voluntary educational and medical services with a view to alleviating the suffering of those affected by natural disasters, destructive wars, epidemics, and famines;
10. publish scientific and medical research and establish effective communication between scientists and physicians in the UAE and international research, academic, and medical centres, with a view to benefiting from the expertise of these centres; and
11. exercise any other duties or powers required for the achievement of the objectives of the HBRFMES, as assigned to it by the President or the Board of Trustees.

Management of the HBRFMES

Article (7)

The HBRFMES will be managed in accordance with this Law, the resolutions issued in pursuance hereof, and its Charter.

President of the HBRFMES

Article (8)
